

Binod's support system

Binod Kafle, from Biratnagar-3, once served in the Ministry of Law and held a master's degree in law. Eleven years ago, a sudden severe headache and fainting led to a diagnosis of encephalitis, leaving him with multiple disabilities, including motor aphasia and difficulty using his limbs. Since then, Binod has relied entirely on his wife, Sushma, for communication and daily activities, as he communicates through lip-sync.

However, with strong will, Binod developed an interest in writing. As his health declined further, Sushma became his primary caregiver, assisting with feeding, dressing, medications and providing physiotherapy. She even took him outside in a wheelchair to keep him engaged with the world.

Determined to support his passion, his family found a specialized typewriter tool that Binod could operate by nodding his head. With this, he wrote and published two blogs in an online journal. Sushma, who understands Binod's lip-sync and emotions, has become his voice, expressing his thoughts and feelings with unwavering love. Together, they continue to pursue Binod's dreams, facing every challenge as a united team.
