

Influencer Megha

Megha Ghimire from Biratnagar has faced life's trials with remarkable resilience. At 16, a tragic encounter with an electric current led to the amputation of both her arms at the shoulder joint. This life-altering event was followed by a divorce, leaving her to depend entirely on her mother's care for daily activities like bathing, grooming, and eating.

Despite these challenges, Megha's spirit remained unbroken. During the COVID lockdown, she discovered TikTok app, where she began sharing videos, using her legs to navigate her phone. Her passion for singing and dancing caught the attention of the local CBRFs, who informed her about the support available through the DPRP (program). Recognizing her talent and drive, it was arranged for her to attend music classes in her town.

Now a popular TikTok creator with 4 million followers, Megha dreams of becoming an actress and public speaker. She aspires to inspire others with disabilities, showing them the strength within. Her mother, a pillar of support, stands by her, radiating pride and hope for their future.
