

Overcoming toughest of challenges

Aman Mandal, from Biratnagar-10, was born with cerebral palsy and holds a red Disability ID card. Despite his physical challenges, Aman is determined to continue his education, currently studying in Bhanu Memorial English Boarding School.

He relies on an electric wheelchair for mobility and the assistance of a caregiver for daily activities. Aman serves as the vice-chairperson of the Milijuli Group, inspiring others with his resilience. Eight months ago, the Disability Prevention and Rehabilitation Program (DPRP) provided him with a battery for his electric wheelchair, but it malfunctioned. As a result, he had to use a cycle rickshaw to attend school. With a contribution of Rs 20,000 from DPRP, Aman purchased a new electric wheelchair, significantly improving his mobility.

Now, Aman attends school regularly in his electric wheelchair and participates actively in disability-related programs, showing that determination and support can overcome even the toughest challenges.
